Match Report

In the second game against Appleton in six days, Isis again won the toss and batted first. And they made a very good start, with both Richard Stephenson and Dave Penhallurick batting very nicely through the first 20 overs to take the score into the high eighties. Dave was run out with the score just shy of a hundred, but Rich pushed on, driving and pulling beautifully. However, an attempted sweep shot saw him LBW just short of a well-deserved century. Pete Wiblin and Rory Phibbs took up the cause, the latter playing his first game of the season and seeing the ball well to carry his bat for 31, Isis finishing on what could have been a competitive 185 at the turn. But after tea, when a persistent drizzle set in, it was Appleton who played the brighter cricket. Nine Isis bowlers were used, but only Keith Ponsford took wickets, finishing with a brace. The truth is that a younger, smarter Appleton side harried the field with excellent running and despatched any bad ball with ease. And sadly, nothing went a slightly lethargic Isis's way. All credit to Appleton, who were the better side in every department on the day.
